WEDS A COUNTESS

Daughter of Count Hoyos Becomes Bride of C. W. Short, Jr.

WILL LIVE IN BOSTON

Bride Said to Have Been Engaged at One Time to Lord Camoys.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—American wedding, a matter of interest in London, but a more celebrated hitherto have been marked with a titled bridegroom. Today's wedding of Countess Camilla Hoyos, an Austrian, and Charles Wilkins Short, Jr., an architect of Massachusetts and Cincinnati, in Holy Trinity Church, St. James Square, was particularly interesting to Anglo-Americans here, not only because the bride bore a title but also because of the social prominence of her father and mother. Many Americans whose names are known on two continents saw the ceremony. Added interest was lent by the presence of the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador.

The Countess was attended by six bridesmaids, nearly all of whom were relatives. She wore a white chiffon trimmed with old Brussels lace and with a train and veil. She was given away by her eldest brother, Count Hoyos. The brother of the bridegroom was best man. Following the wedding Countess Hoyos, mother of the bride, held a reception at the home of her brother, Sir James Beetham, Whitehead. The newly married couple will sail for Boston, where they will make their home.

Countess Camilla Hoyos is a great favorite in London society, especially among the younger set. She has taken much interest in charity receptions held in behalf of young girls who are blind or crippled. She is a devoted and well cultured girl and of unimpeachable appearance. She is a granddaughter of Robert Whitehead, who while a member of an engineering firm in Austria invented the Whitehead torpedo. While her father is an Austrian, she is very English, having been born at Springfield, in the State of New York. She said that at one time Countess Camilla was engaged to Lord Camoys, who afterwards married an American girl, Miss Sherman.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 19.—Charles Wilkins Short belongs to one of the oldest and best-known families of this city. He is an architect and is located in Boston. His father, Charles W. Short, Sr., is a real estate lawyer of this city. The bridegroom of today has not spent much of his time in this city for years.

LONDON SEES TRIPLE BILL

Locke, Lord Dunsany and Stanley Houghton the Authors.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—An excellent triple bill was presented to-night at the Haymarket Theatre. It began with a one act play by William J. Locke, which was a typical adventure of Aristide Pujol. It was followed by one act of "The Golden Doom," by Lord Dunsany. "The Golden Doom" is a strange character study of a fresh and work character.

A scene designed by S. H. Smith showed the sacred front door of a Babylonian monarch's palace. A little boy and girl play about unnoticed by the sentries but are unable to see the King. One plays to the King's door for a little while and also writes on the door a verse composed by the other telling how a purple bird flew up against the sky and died.

When this was discovered the monarch was very much perturbed and the astrologers interpreted it as a warning written by some god foretelling the King's punishment for "flying against the stars." Hoping to appease the angry gods the king lays his crown and scepter before the gate. The child later comes along and thinking that the gate has been opened for the monarch's arrival, he tries to enter. When the King and the other discover the crown and scepter gone they believe that the sacrifice has been accepted and taken off by the gods. It is difficult to convey the weird charm of this half hour's little drama.

The programme ended with a three act comedy entitled "The Younger Generation," by Stanley Houghton, the author of the much discussed "Hindle Wakes." This is a clever play of the modern type showing the life of a Manchester middle class family of good means. Three generations are brought on the stage simultaneously, a harsh, sour grandmother, a respectable, narrow minded but weaker father and his revolving sons and a daughter who is eventually victorious in the fight for some measure of freedom in daily life. The three pieces were notably well acted and there was not a single star in the casts.

DELAY IN MOSCHINI CASE.

Former Lulu Davis Still in Jail—May Appeal to Embassy.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

ROME, Nov. 19.—The friends of Signora Moschini, formerly Lulu Davis of Austin, Tex., who is being persecuted by her husband, were disappointed when the Magistrate, who had stated that he would issue an order for her release this evening, unexpectedly notified Signor Vinal, her counsel, that another judge, who was at present absent from Rome, had been ordered to take on the case and that it would be impossible to give Signora Moschini her freedom until he returns.

Signor Vinal attributes this further delay to the political influence of Signor Moschini, the wealthy husband of the American girl. Counsel says that since his efforts have been fruitless he will apply to-morrow to the American Embassy for assistance.

Meanwhile the newspapers continue to print unfavorable comment on Deputy Moschini's petty persecutions of his wife who is weak and nervous owing to her prolonged imprisonment in a jail with hardened criminals.

SURGEON FOR CZAREVITCH.

Prof. Israel of Berlin Summoned to Tsarskoye-Selo.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 19.—It is understood that Prof. Israel, a surgeon of Berlin, has been summoned to attend the Czarevitch at Tsarskoye-Selo, whether the imperial family has returned from Spain. Rumors point to the continued gravity of the boy's condition.

The court physicians admit it is a serious surgical case.

HOME RULE KNOT UNTIED.

Liberals Straighten Out Tangle and New Amendment Is Adopted.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The Government to-day managed to straighten out the complications which resulted from the defeat of a portion of the Irish Home Rule bill in the House of Commons on November 11, and which provoked an open riot two days later.

The House to-day held a debate on the new financial resolution replacing the one which was defeated by the amendment offered by Sir Frederick Banbury, and which was carried by a "snap" division. The new resolution differs little from the old one excepting in form, but it avoids an intolerable breach of precedent. After a long discussion the new resolution was carried by a vote of 318 to 202.

An unusual sequel to the doings during the riot on November 13 was brought about by Joseph Martin, member for East St. Pancras and a prominent former Canadian, who gave notice of a motion censuring the Speaker for declaring that he did not have power to treat members of the House as disorderly when they confine themselves to Parliamentary cries of "divide," "adjourn" and similar exclamations, and also for grossly failing in his duty in not suspending the proceedings by those exclamations on November 13.

SHIP HIT BY HURRICANE.

Hamburg-American Liner Damaged in Storm Off Jamaica.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Nov. 19.—The Hamburg-American Line steamship Prinz Sigismund, from Santiago, en route to Colon, arrived here this morning after a severe experience with a hurricane for about thirty-six hours.

The vessel ran into the storm off the west end of the island. The waves were so high that they swept clear over the ship, flooding the saloons and cabins and smashing the boats. The upper structure of the ship was considerably damaged. At one time the storm was so severe that some of the timid passengers put on lifeboats.

The hurricane wrecked the west end of the island.

ZAYAS'S LIFE THREATENED.

Cuban Presidential Candidate Would Have Died If Elected.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

HAVANA, Nov. 19.—La Opinion, the organ of the party of Gen. Zayas, the present Vice-President and unsuccessful candidate in the Presidential elections, says to-day that Gen. Montegudo, the commander of the Cuban armed forces, had arranged to assassinate Gen. Zayas on election night if Gen. Zayas won the election.

The newspaper declares that Gen. Montegudo had three picked sharpshooters detailed for the work.

MAJOR DOMO SUES PRINCESS.

Breaks Leg Feeding Dog and Seeks 2,000 Francs Damages.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Princess Louise of Belgium is again before the courts. Her major domo, a magnificent specimen of the valet tribe with flowing whiskers and an ivory complexion, while feeding the Princess's Pekinese spaniel in 1910 had his leg broken and the major domo subsequently suffered a physical collapse. He now claims 2,000 francs damages.

The courts lent an attentive ear to the case this afternoon, but reserved judgment.

DOCTORS REJECT PENSIONS.

British Association Doesn't Want Aid Under Insurance Act.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—At a representative meeting of the British Medical Association to-day a resolution was adopted declaring that the latest proposals of Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George in regard to the compensation of doctors under the insurance act were "unworkable and derogatory to the medical profession and consequently the profession declines to undertake service under the act and the regulations as at present instituted."

It was added, however, that the physicians were willing to confer with the Chancellor of the Exchequer with a view to settling the points in dispute.

MAKING FORTUNES IN JUTE.

Scottish Firms Average Profits of $10,000 to $25,000 a Week.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

DUNDEE, Nov. 19.—Fortunes are being made by jute firms which employ from five to six hundred men. The average profits are now $10,000 to $25,000 a week and the firms are deluged with orders which are booked for delivery a year ahead.

The reason for this boom is that when trade was slack some time ago the manufacturers allowed their stock to become exhausted and now the crop forecast of the world's jute is that it is barely covering requirements.

PARIS MYSTERY DEEPENS.

Disappearance of Hotel Administrator Is Widely Discussed.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—The disappearance of M. Wetzel, the hotel administrator and a very wealthy man, is now the topic of the hotel lobbies, where it is recalled that he was once a humble dishwasher but rose to be the prince of hoteliers by a happy streak of luck. He secured positions with Messrs. Tauber, Weigel, Charvet and Geissler in the leading Paris hotels.

His friends say that M. Wetzel's case is one of amnesia, but others say that it is "chercher la femme."

BIBLE WITHOUT HELL

OR JONAH AND WHALE

New Baptist Version Says "Underworld" and "Big Fish."

ADAM AND EVE ENTER LATE

Many Changes in the "Improved Edition" Now Complete and On Sale.

A complete Bible for Baptists with no "hell" in it and the Jonah and the whale story modernized so as to be in keeping with modern knowledge of the size of a whale's throat has been placed on sale by the American Baptist Publication Society. It is called "an improved edition" and contains many changes in text and style from the King James and Douay versions. Adam and Eve appear only as "the man" and "the woman" in early verses of Genesis, although they get names later on. Jonah's whale becomes a "great fish," there is a new reading of the Lord's Prayer and there are radical changes in the wording of the Second Commandment.

A large part of the new Bible was published many years ago when the Bible Union began the work, but many of the books of the Old Testament appear now for the first time. In the New Testament where the Bible Union version replaced "baptize" by "immerse" the newer edition keeps the "baptize," but places "immerse" beside it in brackets.

Some of those who made the new translation are Prof. Bernard C. Taylor of Crozer Theological Seminary, Prof. J. R. Sampey of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, President Harper of Chicago University and Prof. Ira M. Price. Although translation was finished in 1910 the version has just been placed on sale.

Dr. C. Kingsley Rowland, secretary of the American Baptist Publication Society, is of the opinion that the simpler language used in the "improved version" will tend to change the dictation of pulp preaching, which he described as "sixteenth century."

The scholars who have perfected the translation for the Baptist Bible have aimed, so far as it was consistent with strict interpretation of the thought, to eliminate obsolete Elizabethan words and replace them with those in general modern use.

To this end "loveh" is replaced by "love" and "leadeth" by "lead" and in the Second Commandment "graven image" becomes a "carved image."

Jonah's whale was changed to a big fish. It was said, much as many had feared the whole story a stumbling block in the way of belief in the Scriptures after learning that a whale, at least as known to the moderns, would have choked before he had hardly begun on the prophet of Nineveh.

While Adam and Eve are replaced on their first appearance by "the man" and "the woman," as a worst adaptation of the Hebrew names, the Garden of Eden is left in and presently Adam and Eve appear under those names.

The new version of the Lord's Prayer is as follows:

Our Father who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts as we also have forgiven our debtors. And bring us not into temptation, but deliver us from the Evil One.

The use of "immerse" to conform to Baptist teachings is illustrated in Matthew, third chapter, thirteenth verse. Then comes Jesus and he is baptized to the Jordan to John to be baptized (immersed) by him.

In the commandment the changed reading visits the interesting question of not upon the children as in the older version, but only on sons. The many changes in this commandment make it read as follows in the Baptist Bible:

Thou shalt not make thee a carved image or any likeness of what is in the heavens above, or of what is in the earth beneath, or of what is in the waters beneath the earth; thou shalt not bow thyself down to them nor serve them, for I, Jehovah, thy God, am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of fathers upon sons, upon the third generation of them that hate me, and showing mercy to the thousandth generation of them that love me and keep my commandments.

Dr. Rowland says that the reading "showing mercy to the thousandth generation" was held to be more forceful and comprehensive than the King James version, which reads: "showing mercy unto thousands."

The replacing of "hell" by the very modern "underworld" appears in the sixteenth chapter of Luke in this verse:

And I also say to thee that thou art Peter and on this rock I will build my church; and the gates of the underworld shall not prevail against it.

Part of Ezekiel and all of the Psalms appear in verse form in the new version.

The general difference in style between the Baptist Bible and the older versions is suggested by the opening verses of Genesis:

In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. Now the earth was waste and empty; and darkness was over the face of the abyss, and the spirit of God was brooding over the face of the waters.

While the Bible Union version, on which the new version is founded and which appeared in 1905, never came into very general use even in the Baptist Church, it is believed that the new Baptist Bible will do so. Already there has been a lively demand for the improved edition, and it was said yesterday that this did not by any means come entirely from persons curious about the changes.

SKATES TO DEATH UNDER AUTO.

Five-Year-Old Elsie Keller Killed in 123d Street.

As five-year-old Elsie Keller of 123 East 123d street was roller skating along Park avenue near 123d street early last evening an auto truck, owned by James Butler of 390 Washington street and driven by John Elliot of 301 Amsterdam avenue, ran her down and instantly killed her. The girl had been trailing behind another truck and skated toward the east curb in front of the heavy machine.

Coroner Hollenstein told the parents they could swear out a warrant if they felt that the truck driver had been negligent.

CHAUFFEUR HELD FOR TRIAL.

Drove Into Another Machine at a Fifty Mile Clip.

The fact that he had been hurled twenty feet from his speeding automobile in a collision in Central Park Monday night seemed to have had little effect on David Schultz, 28 years old, a chauffeur, who appeared in the West side court yesterday morning to answer a charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated. Magistrate Murphy held him in $500 bail for trial.

The collision occurred about 9 P. M. on the West Drive near 10th street a few feet from the spot where Policeman Peter Fitzsimmons was killed by an automobile less than two weeks ago. Schultz, who lives at 362 East Forty-fifth street, was trying out a car for a prospective purchaser named Hulze. He was going south alone at a speed estimated by Policeman Philip Austin of the Arsenal station at fifty miles.

Austin's attention had just been attracted to the approach of Schultz's car when another machine containing three men passed him from the opposite direction. The two cars met head on and in an instant Schultz hurtled through the air and dropped unconscious in front of the policeman.

The property of Edward Kane of 178 West fifty-first street. None of its occupants was hurt. Both cars were wrecked. Magistrate Murphy severely lectured the chauffeur before holding him for trial.

NEW ELECTRIC CO. SEES

EDISON HAND IN SUIT

Court Asked to Prevent Long Acre Plan for Re-organization.

A suit which is alleged to be in the interest of the New York Edison Company as a further means of preventing the Long Acre Electric Light and Power Company from reorganizing under the name of the Intercity Power Company and obtaining sufficient means to begin doing business was brought in the Supreme Court yesterday in the name of Frank A. McIntyre. The defendants are A. S. Leach & Co. and Harvey Fisk & Sons, who are financing the new Long Acre company and the Manhattan Transit Company, which owns the majority stock in the Long Acre company.

A summons in the case was served on A. B. Leach & Co. yesterday afternoon, but as the complaint did not accompany the paper and Mr. Leach didn't know what it was about he sent it to his attorneys, Simpson, Thacher & Bartlett.

The attorney who brought the suit said last night he was ready to discuss it yet. He didn't know whether all the defendants in the case knew what it is for or not, he said.

John C. Sheehan, who has been the controlling factor in the Long Acre company for years, said at his home in St. Rochelle that he had a good idea as to what the suit was for, although he had never heard of Frank A. McIntyre.

"Ever since we made our plans for reorganization emanating from the Edison company have been coming to us trying to buy our controlling interest in the Long Acre company. We won't sell, because it is more profitable to go into the business of selling electricity. When we made a definite refusal to sell the person who tried to buy said he would prevent the success of our plan by beginning a stockholder's action to prevent us from selling the majority stock, which would lose us the financial aid of Fiske and Leach companies."

"The stock of the Manhattan Transit Company can be bought for a couple of dollars a share, and I suppose some one has got a few shares for the purpose of bringing suit. The idea of the Edison company seems to be to crush us between the suit to foreclose the Long Acre bonds, which has already been brought, and this new action by a stockholder of the Manhattan company. These suits should realize that there is a law in this State covering conspiracy to stifle competition and restrain trade and that it is a serious offense."

"These suits will not affect us in the least. We will pay off the Long Acre bonds and we will get our promised financial aid, for A. B. Leach & Co. and Harvey Fisk and Sons will not be frightened by the suit brought to-day."

BIG STORES WANT "L" STATION.

Lord & Taylor and John Clafin File Petitions.

Lord & Taylor and John Clafin have petitioned the Public Service Commission to establish a station on the Sixth avenue elevated line at Thirty-eighth street.

The Commission has made this petition the subject of a complaint order, which was adopted yesterday for service on the Interborough. The company has ten days in which to indicate whether it will build such a station.

The new station would be a cross-town block away from the new store which Lord & Taylor are preparing to build on Fifth avenue.

MAN HELD AS SLAYER

OF LACKAWANNA BOY

New Jersey Sheriff, at Order of Buffalo Police, Arrests J. F. Hickey.

TAKING CURE FOR LIQUOR

Suspect's Handwriting Like That on Postal Cards, Detectives Assert.

TOBIS RIVER, N. J., Nov. 19.—Locked in a cell in the Ocean county jail here is a man who the police of Buffalo, N. Y., believe will turn out to be the murderer of Joseph Joseph, the seven-year-old boy whose dismembered body was found in a sewer vault at Lackawanna last Saturday.

The man, who gives the name of J. Frank Hickey, was arrested this morning by Sheriff Frank Tilton of Ocean county at Kewick, near Whitins, N. J., where a sanitarium for victims of the liquor habit is located. A telegram from the chief of police of Buffalo to Sheriff Tilton on Monday gave a description of the man.

Although Hickey asserts his innocence of the crime and says he does not even know the Josephs, he admits that he once worked in Lackawanna near the Josephs home and that he was later employed in Buffalo. He took his arrest coolly and at first was inclined to waive extradition proceedings.

Later, however, he decided to fight, and engaged former Assistant Prosecutor Jeffrey of Ocean county to represent him.

A representative of the chief of police in Buffalo is expected here to-morrow morning with photographs of the man who has been the object of a country-wide search for the last three days. Chief Regan, according to dispatches from Buffalo to-night, is confident that the arrest at Tobis River will solve the Josephs and Kruck murders.

When Hickey was arrested he was working with a gang of men from the sanitarium, building a bridge. He was dressed then in overalls, but when Sheriff Tilton took him into custody he was allowed to change to a neat, nearly new suit of black, which gave him the appearance of prosperity.

He is 47 years old, he says, and has a son of the same name as himself in Boston, though he would not give the address; the son is 21 years old. Hickey has also talked slightly about his wife, who has been dead for some time, he told the Sheriff. He is of fair complexion, has a blond mustache and wears glasses. His height is 5 feet 6 inches, according to the jail records, and he weighs about 140 pounds.

At first Hickey talked freely about himself, but after he engaged a lawyer his loquacity disappeared. It was learned, however, that this was not his first visit to the Kewick sanitarium. He was there from December to April in 1911 to be treated for his falling, hard drinking, and had been a patient once before that, though the records of the institution failed to disclose just when.

The sanitarium is run by Mrs. Doris Rawls and is supported by a number of wealthy Philadelphians. John Wanamaker is head of the board of directors and has contributed largely, it is said.

Hickey had only a little money and was taken in on charity.

Hickey says he was in Boston on Sunday night a week ago and that he came to New York the following day, registering at Smith & McNeill's Hotel in Greenwich street. He stayed there, he says, for one night and then went to Kewick.

He had been promised a job in New York. He was not there for long, however, and he was entirely rational and able when he was arrested. He talks like an educated man and has apparently travelled a good deal, as he mentioned working in various parts of the United States.

After he was put in a cell Hickey was questioned about the murder of the Josephs boy, but he steadfastly maintained his innocence. He told Sheriff Tilton he had read about the case but was not concerned in it in any way and was not acquainted with the principals in it.

He professed entire ignorance of several letters which had been sent to Chief Regan of Buffalo and which ultimately led to his arrest on the charge.

A remarkable sale of

Motor Fur Coats

for Madame

at wonderful reductions today

Most of the garments in this sale have outstayed their welcome; which accounts for the remarkable liberality of the reductions. They have been in the department longer than they ought, and, of course, you could not accuse them of having come over from Paris on the last boat. But they are those conservative motor garments which are always in good style.

Perhaps we should add that here and there a size is missing in the assortments. Do not imagine, however, that these missing sizes are of great account so far as you are concerned, because it is practically certain that we can fit you at one price or another. That being the case, you do not want to miss an opportunity which has not been equaled in a long time. It is a big event for the woman who motors.
